DRIVE GOES SLOWLY

The Newmarket Red Cross drive still has a long way to go to reach the $4,000 objective, but had passed the half-way mark this week.

Demand on the Red Cross as a result of the bombing of England have greatly increased, and money given will help English people who have lost their homes and personal belongings.

In addition, the Canadian Red Cross is looking after many continental refugees and is providing supplemental garments for Canada's ever-increasing army.

The Red Cross, at the same time, must look ahead to the possibility of increased military

BOY SCOUTS WILL HOLD
ANNUAL APPLE DAY

Newmarket Boy Scouts Association is sponsoring an "Apple Day" on Saturday, Oct. 12.

The association sponsored and partly financed the Scout camp at Island Grove last summer, and also helped the two Scout troops with incidental needs during the year.

Robert Martin is president of the association, Alex. Spear is secretary, and W. H. Eves is treasurer.

The drive committee, headed by H. E. Lambert, chairman, appeals to the public for increased givings to make up the Newmarket objective.

SAYS SCOTLAND
LOOKS MUCH AS KING TOWNSHIP

Editor, The Era: Thanking you very much for the home town paper received today. It was a pleasant surprise to me to get a little of home news before any other mail arrived.

The trip across on the boat was very fine but uneventful, as we were conveyed by several small destroyers, in addition to a big battleship. It was the largest convoy to come across yet; seven troopships in all, and two days off the coast of England we were met by several more destroyers, which kept a sharp look-out by a continual circling and zig-zagging of all the boats.

Our battalion had the whole of the boat to ourselves so that we were pretty comfortable. The meals and service were really fine and I don't believe anyone has the least kick coming.

We landed in Scotland and on the way down on train I kept a sharp look-out over the country to see if it resembled home. Well, all the difference I could notice was that there are very few fences, the farmers seeming to prefer hedges, and that most of the land looks more or less like the rolling hills of King township.

Tell Dr. Wesley that if he ever wants any more Ayrshire cattle he should go to Scotland. There are really a fine lot of herds, but as they originated in that part, Ayr, I suppose they live up to tradition.

England was a little bit startling to us at first, but we are slowly getting used to it now. In the military camp district the people are so used to seeing strangers that they seemed kind of frigid towards us for a while. But the rest of the country seems to want to receive us with open arms. I was on leave in London for a few days and nothing seemed to be enough for the folks there to do for us. They invite you out for tea and weekends, but of course, one must be a little reserved here and not talk anything of army life or where he is stationed. There is no use saying that all the sights of the old city interested me, for I really was lost most of the time and could only see a very limited few. But I will say that some of the moving scenery is very beautiful, chiefly the blondes and brunettes, as well as a few red-heads.

The enemy planes try to make it as uncomfortable as possible for us, but they are such poor shots that they generally sleep through a night raid, or in the daytime just get under some trees, and as our own planes are like a swarm of bees there isn't much harm done.

The weather here is starting to get a little cool now, but we can get warm digging trenches, and tank traps, so I guess we can't worry yet awhile. No fog have set in yet to make life miserable, but at night it sure is mean in the black-outs. What we need is a few good cat's eyes. Nothing looks the same or seems to be in the right place.

Well, I guess there isn't much to say about things in general, so I must thank you again for the paper, and please, if possible, keep it coming as it sure is fine to hear of things at home. So, until we meet again.

So long,
(Editor's note.—This letter, from Pte. C. K. Harrison, Newmarket soldier with the C.A.S.F. in England, was received on Tuesday.)

YORK RANGERS STUDY
WAR ENTHUSIASTICALLY

The hard work and enthusiasm of members of the Queen's York Rangers at their evening drill is a revelation.

A visit to the town hall, Newmarket, and to Mechanics' hall, Aurora, on Tuesday was more than interesting. In the market house at the town hall 2nd Lieut. Ray Canham was drilling a squad in setting up the Vickers machine-gun and upstairs 2nd Lieut. Frank Classy was giving a lecture on scouts and patrols.

At the Mechanics' hall, Aurora, 2nd Lieut. Campbell Lane and 2nd Lieut. C. J. Wilkins were the instructors. Capt. D. O. Munger visited both Newmarket and Aurora platoons during the evening.

Some members of the company went to Toronto for their winter uniforms the same evening.

FIRE IS SLIGHT

Newmarket firemen received a call to the home of Mrs. Agnes Deury, Timothy St., at 9:50 a.m. today. A fire in the ceiling around the stove-pipe had already been checked with water. The firemen finished the job with chemicals. There was no damage of consequence.

MEDICAL OFFICER WAS IN NAVY IN LAST WAR

Dr. J. C. R. Edwards, joint medical officer at the Newmarket training centre with Dr. C. R. Boulding of Aurora, served during the last war as an undergraduate medical officer in the Royal Navy.

Dr. Edwards was born in Brock township, Ontario county, in 1897. He started his medical course at the University of Toronto in 1915 and after three years training, including a clinical year, enlisted in 1918 to help answer the demand for medical officers.

He saw service with the Royal Navy, based first at Portsmouth, and later at Gibraltar and Constantinople. He served in the Black Sea after the Turkish armistice of August, 1918.

Discharged in 1919, he completed his course at the University of Toronto in 1921. He practised his profession in Sutton until 1929, when he came to Newmarket.

In 1922 Dr. Edwards married Caroline Davis of Markham township. They have four sons and a daughter.

Dr. Edwards and Dr. Boulding serve with the rank of lieutenant.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Jacob Smith and Mrs. Milton Hamilton of Sutton poured tea and Mrs. Fred Hamilton of Markham, assisted by Mrs. T. Cleland of Listowel, presided during the evening. Many friends and relatives called to offer congratulations and best wishes.

INTEREST IN UNITED

Attendance has been increasing and interest deepening in the weekly united services of intercession being held in the various churches of the town on Wednesday evening of each week at 8 o'clock.

Last evening the meeting was held at the Friends church and was conducted by Rev. Burton Hill, with increased numbers attending. The next meeting will be held in the Christian church.

NEWMARKET SOLDIERS IN ENGLAND SEE
HISTORIC CAKE-SHOP, OLD CHURCHES

The following is part of a letter, written on Sept. 10 in England, which was recently received by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blencowe, 12 Lydia St., from their sons, Jim and Ross, who are with the C.A.S.F. in England.

"Just thought I would write and let you know we are fine. We just got back from our five days landing leave and we had a wonderful time.

"Our cousins were very glad to see us and treated us wonderfully. In Banbury a lot of the people had never seen a Canadian and most of them had never seen any Scotch Canadians, as they call us.

"One of our cousins works for the two old mounds that own and run the 'Brown Cake Shop,' where the famous Banbury cakes come from, so when they heard we were from Canada they asked us to come and see the place.

NEWSPAPER
WEEK

There is no better indication of their good-will toward other peoples than the celebration this year by Canadians of the 500th anniversary of the invention of printing, credited to Gutenberg, a German.

This week Canadian weekly newspapers are marking "Newspaper Week," intended to bring to public attention the achievements of printing, particularly the liberties and comforts achieved through the development of the newspaper.

The weeklies also seek to draw attention to the services which they render their own communities through their job printing facilities. They are equally anxious to draw to attention the services which their advertisers offer to the public.

This week The Era is sending out 500 sample copies and invites new subscriptions ($2 a year; $3 for two years). The Era is recognized as one of the finest weeklies in Canada, and goes only to paid-in-advance subscribers.

VAN ARRIVES FROM N.S.

A Halifax moving van arrived in Newmarket today with a load of furniture from Truro, Nova Scotia, having left there on Saturday. The great vehicle will pick up a return load at Montreal on the way back. Earlier this year the same van made a trip to the United States.

SUPPLY PASTOR TAKES OVER TRINITY DUTIES

Due to ill-health Rev. R. R. McMath has been relieved of all duties as pastor of Trinity United church until next July, but remains pastor of the church.

Rev. Dr. A. E. Runnells has been invited to act as a supply pastor until that time.

Dr. Runnells, who spoke here on Sunday, is a supernumerary minister living in Toronto, and has held large churches in Montreal, Brockville and other centres. During the last year he was an overseas padre.

Dr. Runnells is expected to commence his duties this coming Sunday.

"You can't be sure of material things," Dr. Runnells said on Sunday evening. "We might wake up tomorrow and find the Rocky mountains in the Pacific. There isn't any business so solidly founded that it can't be wrecked. You can't rest on material circumstances."

LAWYER IS NOT GIVING UP HIS PRACTICE HERE

It was stated in last week's Era that K.M.R. Stiver, Newmarket barrister, is training as an officer in the Queen's York Rangers. This is a militia unit, with drill taking place in the evenings, and Mr. Stiver is still carrying on his law practice. Even if the unit was mobilized, Mr. Stiver's practice would be carried on in his name and clients' affairs given every attention. This is published to answer numerous inquiries made since publication of last week's item concerning Mr. Stiver.

ASKS WHAT IS CHURCH'S VIEW OF WAR TO BE

"The Church in a Troubled World" was the subject of Rev. Arthur Greer's sermon at the Christian-Congregational church on Sunday morning.

"The question has arisen in the minds of many, and in the case of a few has found its way to the lips. 'What should be the attitude and actions of the church of Christ in this time of struggle?' said Mr. Greer, in introducing his subject.

"How may one be guided to accuracy in establishing what ought to be the church's attitude and its consequent actions?" he asked.

"We cannot suggest a survey of the church in history and say that there may be found the answer. The church in times past has too often managed to fall short, both in attitude and action. There have been times when this institution has risen to lofty heights of righteous action; there have been occasions when the church has led the world into light and right. But looking at history as a whole, we admit that she has frequently failed, so that we cannot say in our day, 'Think as the church has always thought, and act as she has always acted.' Therefore, the question still stands, 'How may we establish what ought to be the Christian's attitude in this time of international disaster, and what action should the Christian take?'"

"The answer is obvious; not because we are wiser than past generations, for the answer has always been the same. To establish the church's attitude and actions, we must discover the attitude of Jesus Christ Himself and what action he would take.

"With that in mind we will seek for, firstly, the church's attitude. 'To deal logically with any problem, you must first uncover all the facts concerning it. In one type of war it may be right for the church to throw up its hands in horror, and oppose the whole thing. There have been wars that ought never to have been countenanced by the church of Jesus Christ. Surely our great leader clearly taught that it would be better to suffer imprisonment than to take part in such a war.' (Page 3, Col. 4)

MAYOR ASSISTS

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd will form a citizens' committee to assist with auxiliary services for the training centre, and particularly to assist Capt. Ernest Falle, local Salvation Army officer, who will become officer in charge of the recreational side of the camp.

Col. C. R. Hill, officer in charge of auxiliary services for M.D. 2, visited Newmarket on Tuesday, and invited the co-operation of citizens with the mayor, Capt. Falle and camp officers.

Just at the moment citizens could co-operate with the camp by donating extra coat-hangers they have on hand. Up to 3,000 are needed by the camp at once. Citizens who have a few to give could leave them at The Era office.

Information about the auxiliary needs of the camp were obtained from Major B. H. Geary, V. C., second-in-command.

Canadian Legion, Knights of Columbus, Y.M.C.A. and the Salvation Army have each one camp to which they have undertaken to send a man and be responsible for recreational organization. This is a Salvation Army camp.

In each camp the auxiliary organization is co-operating under an agreement with the government by which it makes no profit, as profits, if any, are all to be turned over for the benefit of the personnel of the camp.

Pressing needs at the camp at the moment are, first, gifts of furniture for the recreation rooms of the men, second, furniture for the sergeants' mess, third, for the officers' mess.

Another need is sports equipment, which includes equipment for outdoor sports such as association football, baseball, volleyball, and, later on, hockey.

FIRST CAMP CHURCH
PARADE IS PLANNED

Officers and men of the training camp will parade to Trinity United church on Sunday morning under Lieut.-Col. R. B. Harkness, D.S.O. When the camp cook-house was not ready for them last Thursday, over 100 men went to Trinity church for their supper, served by the ladies of the Evangelical auxiliary, and the church parade is in the nature of a return compliment. Newmarket Citizens' band will take part in the parade.

Sanford King, whose wife is head of the Evangelical auxiliary, presided at the supper. Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd welcomed the men to Newmarket and expressed the town's happiness to do whatever was possible for the comfort of the men while stationed here.

Gerald Rutledge was at the piano.

MAYORS WILL ATTEND

Members of Tuscan Lodge, A. F. and A.M., will attend Trinity United church in a body on Sunday morning, Oct. 20.

CAPT. ERNEST FALLE

also for indoor sport, ping-pong tables, racquets, balls, darts, table games. Another need is books, papers, magazines. Gifts should be made through the citizens' committee.

Moving-pictures will be supplied by the government and operated by the Salvation Army staff. In addition to entertainments gotten up by the camp personnel, some form of outside talent or concert party would certainly be welcome. Especially music in the form of band music can be used at the camp.

"The idea of the citizens' committee is that in cases of emergency the camp officers would at once go to the Salvation Army representative to secure help by contacting the citizens' committee.

Lieut.-Col. R. B. Harkness, D.S.O., officer commanding the training centre, is directing the speedy preparations for reception of the 1,000 trainees next week. The camp adjutant is Capt. E. B. Dodgson.

The training staff is not complete yet. The remainder were expected to arrive today.

ARE LIVING HERE

Rev. Capt. George Dix and Mrs. Dix and a daughter, Dorothy, are living in Newmarket at the present time. Capt. Dix was National Government candidate in the last federal election.

PRESS DEFENDS
A LADY IN DISGUISE

"But we are astonished, we must confess, that men of our own time, men who have before them the proof of what toleration can effect, men who may see with their own eyes that the Presbyterians are no such monsters when government is wise enough to let them alone, should defend the persecutions of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries as indispensable to the safety of the church and throne."—Thomas Babington Macaulay, 1828.

As Canada's weekly newspapers mark "Newspaper Week" we cannot think of any more appropriate subject than tolerance, and without apology we refer again to the Professor Underhill controversy which still continues in the Toronto newspapers. The Toronto Globe and Mail has just published a splendid but remarkable editorial on the subject. When the subject first came to public attention through a letter addressed to the Globe and Mail, the Toronto Star made some remarks on the subject which were obviously not representative of that newspaper's usual liberal viewpoint, and we were therefore delighted when later comment indicated a wiser and more tolerant attitude. The Globe and Mail has now allied itself with the liberals by the publication of editorials which represent, as it admits, a volte face from opinions published in 1937.

In urging tolerance at a time like this The Globe and Mail, as it points out, is not taking a popular stand but a liberal one. The Globe and Mail also predicts that in pursuing its liberal policy it foresees more frequent conflict with the reactionary, although sometimes popular, viewpoint. Now we would just like to emphasize this point, that the press, when functioning as the guardian of our liberties, more often expresses an unpopular viewpoint than a popular one. Majorities do not need newspaper support, but minorities do, and it is necessarily from minorities and individuals that ideas, progress and inventions originate.

In this field we believe that the weekly press performs a major service. The owner-editor, thinking his own thoughts as much as anyone can do in a world of many men, many minds and many books, committed to the support of no party and financially dependent on his own neighbors to a far greater extent than he is on any distant corporations, is equally free to express popular and unpopular viewpoints. His sense of news, kept keen by his reporting activities, and his sense of the value of space, kept alert by his weekly contact with wages and bills payable, incline him to avoid expression of the obvious. He is more inclined to say the thing that needs to be said than the thing that the majority would like to read—that is, confirmation of his own opinions.

We began our salute to the Globe and Mail with a quotation from Macaulay's essay on Italian. Let us conclude with one from his essay on Milton. He tells a fable of a fairy who was condemned at times to appear in the form of a foul and poisonous snake. "Those who injured her during the period of her disguise were forever excluded from participation in the blessings which she bestowed. But to those who, in spite of her loathsome aspect, pitied and protected her, she afterwards revealed herself in the beautiful and celestial form which was natural to her, accompanied their steps, granted all their wishes, filled their houses with wealth, made them happy in love and victorious in war. Such a spirit is Liberty. At times she takes the form of a hateful reptile. She grovels, she hisses, she stings. But woe to those who in disgust shall venture to crush her! And happy are those who, having dared to receive her in her degraded and frightful shape, shall at length be rewarded by her in the time of her beauty and her glory!"

The unpopular cause is frequently liberty in disguise.

A WEEK FOR WEEKLIES

It is characteristic of the weekly newspaper that it does things in a big way. The florists content themselves with one day (mothers' day) and the haberdashers content themselves with one (fathers') day. The town weekly, however, deals in weeks, and sets aside not a mere day but a whole week in which to pause and think on what the weekly means to the community. This is "Newspaper Week."

POWER SAVING TIME

Reflecting the rural viewpoint, some of the weekly papers comment unfavorably on the continuation of daylight saving time. The Dundalk Herald says that "daylight saving is just one big headache so far as the rural parts of Ontario are concerned," and "can't see that the proposal has sufficient merit to be worth all the extra confusion it would cause." The Smiths Falls Record-News says "Phooey" and thinks that the powers that be have overlooked the use of electric power in the early morning instead of at night.

The saving of power seems to lie in the division of Ontario and Quebec into two groups of power users, standard-time users and daylight-saving-time users. This means that one group starts drawing power an hour earlier in the morning than the other and finishes an hour sooner at night. It means that the cooking of meals is spread out over an additional hour. It means that many factories in daylight saving communities are closed down for the hour when most housewives in standard time communities are cooking the family dinner. It brings a great part of the commercial and industrial power consumption to an end before it is necessary to turn on the lights and before standard-time areas have started to cook the evening meal.

That is the argument anyway. It remains to be seen how it works out. The effort is not to reduce the consumption of electric power, but to increase it without having to develop more. In other words, the hydro power producers are trying to keep the peak of consumption down and to build up the valleys of low consumption. The principle is exactly the same as the two-shift principle in industry. The plant is there all the time, but the use of it is spread out over a longer period of time. Newmarket, we understand, will probably have a reduced power bill as a result of daylight saving time through the winter. We suggest that the town use this saving to finance the Bowser-Evans experimental widening of Main St.

While daylight saving for the winter-time is advanced as a war-time measure, we must remember that during the last war daylight saving for summer was also advanced as a war-time measure. There will be a temptation even when the war is over to continue this plan for saving power (Toronto Hydro-Electric system estimates a monthly saving of $30,000), if it works out successfully now. We don't sympathize with the farmers, for they will have the laugh on the town folk on cold and frosty mornings, but we do sympathize with youthful members of farm families who will have to rise at 6 a.m. standard time in order to be at Newmarket high school at 9 a.m. D. S. T.

It was stated over the B.B.C. on Sunday night that the German-held portion of the continent had been bombed 210 times during the last three months.

The German-held northern French ports were reported in Vichy to be so badly wrecked that they could be used only with difficulty.

Nazi bombers were turned back from the heart of London on Sunday night and Monday in the fiercest barrage of anti-aircraft fire yet displayed. Eleven thousand women and children were evacuated on Sunday.

Japanese planes dropped four bombs in the native quarter of Haiphong in French Indo-China last week, causing 15 casualties. Then 2,000 Japanese troops were landed in "peaceful" procedure, according to the terms of "military privilege" of the Vichy-Tokio agreement.

A Canadian armed merchant cruiser, the Prince Robert, captured the German express cargo ship, Weser, off Mexico last week.

Forty-six more survivors of the City of Benares, torpedoed the week before last, were rescued last Friday, after spending eight days in an open boat. They included six children.

Frost, last week striking for the second time the Ontario tobacco belt, destroyed an estimated 4,000,000 pounds of leaf. The frost loss for the season was believed to be nearly $7,000,000 worth of tobacco.

In the longest R. A. F. raid on Berlin of the war, which lasted over five hours, on Tuesday morning the British bombers seriously damaged the large west end power station. Authorized British sources announced on Tuesday that Italian submarines had recently torpedoed three Spanish ships, with heavy loss of life.

The Canadian government has decided to build airplane engines in Canada, instead of depending on supplies from the U. S. and Britain, an authoritative source disclosed this week.

Spain is not going to join the Axis yet in the war against Britain, it was believed this week when Ramon Berrano Suerer returned from Berlin.

Murder charges were lodged against two Cape Breton, N.S., boys, 14 and 15, on Tuesday. They are accused of shooting Angus MacIsaac, a reputedly well-to-do former gold-miner.

A large evacuation of women and children and old people has been started in Berlin as a result of the intensified British bombings.

TWO YOUNGSTERS JUMP TO THE WRONG CONCLUSION

BY RUTH DINGMAN HESS

"These are certainly the most exciting days of my young life so far," announced Junior Chickadee happily to his chum, Young Nutty, the White-breasted Nuthatch.

"Yes, it's a lot of fun, all right," the other young bird replied. "There are so many feathered folks coming and going, and we are seeing so many people that we never even knew existed. I wake up in the morning wondering who I'm going to see today that will be a perfect stranger to me. And the funny part of it is, that even though in some cases when we meet older birds we know them because of descriptions our parents have given us, there are so many pale and streaky-looking young ones whom it's impossible to identify."

"Some of them look like nothing on earth," agreed the Chickadee.

"My goodness, here comes a whole flock of birds over in our direction now," said Young Nutty eagerly. "They're going to alight right below us here on this big lawn. Now we'll be able to look them over and see if we know who they are."

"They look like Sparrows to me," said Junior. "I don't see how they could be anything else."

"Yes, of course, but what kind of Sparrows?" asked Young Nutty impatiently. "Why, some of them seem to have little white crowns on their heads. They're quite pretty, too. They're streaky brown—a kind of greyish brown—on their backs, wings and tails."

"I see some without any white crowns and just sort of streaky all over," said Junior. "And they all seem to have little white wing bars and rather light greyish breasts."

"They might be anything," said Young Nutty. "They seem to be singing snatches of song—nice voices they have, too."

"I don't see anything for it but to ask them who they are, do you?" Junior finally said. "We're pretty sure they aren't people that we have had with us all summer, at any rate. Wait—I just noticed something. A few of them have quite a distinct white patch on their throats. Look at that one right down below me, for instance."

"Perhaps the white-throated ones are the males and the others are the females," suggested Young Nutty. "Because the White-throated ones seem to have white on their heads too."

"I'm finding out," said Junior firmly and he flew down to the grass and spoke to one of the pretty little Sparrows, picking out one of the birds who had the white on its head, but had no white throat.

"Pardon me, madam," he said politely, "but what kind of a Sparrow are you? My friend and I were wondering if you were the wife of that very pretty white-throated Sparrow over there."

"Good gracious!" spluttered the Sparrow in great consternation. "What ludicrous mistakes you young birds down in southern Ontario make sometimes, when we northerners appear here in the autumn. Did you hear what the young chap asked me, my dear?" It said to another bird nearby, who was a dull greyish brown, with no white crown.

"Yes, but don't make the poor dear feel too embarrassed," the other bird replied. "Of course, you made a bad mistake, young Chickadee, but we all do sometimes. This Sparrow with the white crown is a male Sparrow, and he is called the White-crowned Sparrow—my husband, in fact. He doesn't like being mistaken for a female Sparrow, I'm afraid."

"Oh, I'm terribly sorry to have been so stupid," cried Junior in great confusion. "But, who in the world is that lovely white-throated bird over there, then? He has white on his head too."

"Oh, that's my cousin, the White-throated Sparrow," the White-crowned Sparrow replied. "It's very simple really. The one with the white crown and no white throat is called the White-crowned and the one with the white throat is called the White-throated Sparrow. Those are the males. The females are harder to distinguish, but the female White-throat has a faintly white throat, too, although neither of the females has the white on the head. The White-throats have another distinguishing mark, too, and that is the little yellowish spot in front of their eyes. We haven't got that. They are a little more reddish in color on their backs than we are, too."

"Oh thank you so much—I think I have it quite straight, now," stammered Junior. "And

The Common Round
AS SHE SAW THEM
By Isabel Inglis Colville

There are times when one is brought face to face with facts to which, hitherto, imagination had been our only guide. When at our Women's Institute meeting last week, I heard Mrs. Raymond Booth speak of the refugees she had known, it did two things to me. It made me ashamed, and it made me thankful.

It made me ashamed to think how complacently I accept the decent, orderly mode of living which we consider our birthright here in Canada.

I was ashamed too, that I hadn't thought more about the refugees—that I had even tried to keep them out of my mind and feel that someone, somewhere was looking after them. And then Mrs. Booth told of the refugees she had received in her home, whose tales of horror she had listened to, and whose sorrows she had shared, and she brought home to us that it isn't just clothes and food these driven people crave—it is sympathy and understanding, and the clear-sighted help which will enable them to adjust themselves to new customs, new surroundings and in what measure strangers may, to fill the places of absent friends.

Mrs. Booth told of a surgeon, famous among surgeons all over the world, tortured by the Nazis and driven out of the country; of his craving to carry on in his own sphere, but debarred by rules and regulations from exercising his God-given talent. She told of the case of a young girl whose mother had been killed most horribly. The girl was brought to Canada and was to be married, as ruled by the head of her race here, to a man old enough to be her father, and offensive to her personally. She told of the efforts made to save her from this, at last, successfully, and of her marriage later to a fine young fellow. Preceding the marriage ceremony Mrs. Booth had to act as the girl's mother, going through all the ceremonial acts, which this girl's people had treasured down the ages.

She told of how some of the highborn, hitherto wealthy men and women, had gone to farms, and toiled ceaselessly to earn their bread. They hadn't been used to manual labor, but they LEARNED, and thought no task too menial.

Some of them, at the risk of their lives and through the co-operation of friends who dared concentration camps to help them, had brought with them to this country treasures of silver and linen, and with these they made a bit of home in an alien land. So many of them were separated from those nearest and dearest and lived with fear as their daily companion—fear that they might hear of their death—or almost worse—internment in concentration camps.

The doctor of whom I spoke at the first, carried with him, always, a terrible memory: for, added to the horror of his own usage was the thought of a patient who, was in his office when the Gestapo came to drag him away to torture and near death. The patient was dragged from his office by the hair of her head and thrown on the street. She was not young and died from this treatment—her only fault that she, an Aryan, continued to doctor with a Jewish physician.

We, in this fortunate country, cannot measure the agony of remembrance, and the loneliness of these people, who through no fault of their own have been cut off from everything which made up their lives—their homes, often their families or part of them, their work, and not least, their country, for most of them loved their country, as you and

Right Attitude

"Next to a beautiful girl, what do you think is the most interesting thing in the world?"

"When I'm next to a beautiful girl, I'm not worrying about statistics."

"Dear Betty: We are gathered here this evening to do honor to you before leaving our midst. We will miss you. We hope that in making new friends in Boston you will not forget your 'old pals' in Newmarket. To make sure you do not forget us, we ask you to accept these remembrances from those who love and will miss you. May good health, wealth and happiness always be in store for you."

The address was signed by Marguerite Callaghan, Phyllis Osborne, Norine Longhurst, Irene Smith, Margaret Thompson, Jean Cullen, Joanne Peppiatt, Jean Duncan, Doris Newton, Florence Callaghan, Jean McFale, Claire Gould, Margaret Gould, Eileen Price, Mary Williamson, Rhoda Longhurst.

Many beautiful and useful gifts were received.

A delightful luncheon was given and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

BRANCH NEEDS LOT OF REFUGEE CLOTHING

A definite quota of garments for British war victims has been set for the Newmarket branch of the Red Cross to accomplish during September and October.

Considering the urgency and need for haste, the branch has taken advantage of the local merchants' generosity in giving articles at cost. It has been deemed advisable to purchase many of the articles, while others are being made by various groups.

The list is as follows: for women, 10 coats, size 38; 10 coats, size 42; 20 dresses, size 46; 20 skirts, size 10; 25 pullovers and blouses, size 10; 20 slips, size 18; 20 nightgowns, size 16; 40 jackets, size 16; one layette; for men, 10 pullovers and cardigans, size 44; 25 shirts, size 44.

Many ladies in the town have formed groups for sewing and knitting and it is thought that the public might be interested in knowing about the splendid work being done and being given some idea of the magnitude of the task of the Red Cross Society. Under the leadership of Mrs.

I love ours. We cannot measure their pain, but we CAN sympathize and help.

There is work to be done for them and the time may come when we will be brought into contact with them, and then, in the words of our Institute collect, "let us not forget to be kind."

The money is yours yet it helps provide the credit necessary to move the goods and services of the nation. (Canada's chartered banks thus perform functions of great usefulness. ## POLICE COURT SEVERAL DRINK DRIVE CASES HEARD TUESDAY

"I have always been very careful when driving," T. H. Mitchell, Ringwood, stated when pleading not guilty to a charge of attempting to pass in Newmarket police court on Tuesday. Magistrate W. P. Woodliffe fined him $5 and costs.

Constable Alex. Ferguson testified that on Sept. 18, while driving over a hill on a 20-foot paved road in East Gwillimbury, he was forced to stop about 75 feet from the top of the hill in order to avoid a collision with Mr. Mitchell's car. He said that the accused was coming in the opposite direction and was in the act of passing a truck.

"I did pass the truck on the level," stated Mr. Mitchell. "I think my fault was that I did not pull over quickly enough."

A charge of failing to have an operator's license, against Mall Smith, Richmond Hill, was adjourned another week. Constable Ferguson stated that he had checked on Smith's license and found that the accused had bought a license after Aug. 1, which was after the charge was laid.

Mr. Smith in his defence stated that he had bought two driver's permits and that he had bought the second one after Aug. 1 because he had lost the first one. He said that he had then lost the second one. He then found one of the licenses but did not know which one it was. A license which had been handed into the court was found to show evidence of an error having been made and bore a February date.

"How is it that it bears the date, February, when it was not issued until August?" asked Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C.

"I didn't change it," was the reply.

Admitting that he had been driving at 60 miles an hour in East Gwillimbury on Aug. 17, C. Curry McKenna, Toronto, was fined $5 and costs.

Constable Alex. Ferguson testified that he had followed the McKenna car for about a mile. He said that it was cutting in and out of heavy traffic and on two or three occasions cut out on the shoulder of the road. He said that he stopped the car and that the defendant admitted having been drinking.

Mr. McKenna stated that he had had some liquor before he received a message from the hospital that his wife had been taken there. His nerves were in a bad condition as a result of this message and he was on his way to the hospital.

Charges of failing to register a motor vehicle and of careless driving, against Clarence Sedore, Keswick, were adjourned until next week in order to allow the defendant time to obtain another witness. The accused pleaded guilty to the former charge and not guilty to the latter.

Constable Carl Morton testified that on Sept. 18 he and Constable Alvin Rye had seen Mr. Sedore's car crash into Clark Greive's car near Jersey. Mr. Greive's car was damaged, he said.

"What was the condition of the driver?" asked the magistrate.

"Mr. Sedore had been drinking," answered the constable.

Mr. Greive stated that his home was in Agincourt and that he had been on his way to his summer cottage at the time of the accident.

"What was the condition of Sedore?" asked Magistrate Woodliffe.

"I wouldn't want to say," replied Mr. Greive. "He lost control of his car. He has but a beginner's license."

Constable Rye corroborated the evidence given.

Mr. Sedore, in his own defence, stated that he saw the car coming as he pulled out of the booth. "As far as I know, I was on my own side of the road," he stated. He refuted Constable Morton's statement that the place was well lighted. "Not at the bridge it isn't," he said. The defendant further stated that it was raining at the time.

The Wallington Trading Company and Robert Hollenbeck, both of Toronto, were each fined $8 and costs for speeding. Constable Alex. McCallum testified that both drivers were travelling at 45 m.p.h. at Elmhurst Beach.

A. E. Depalina, Toronto, was fined $12 and costs for driving at 53 m.p.h. Constable James Sloan, on Eagle St., Newmarket.

Ruth Rawlins, also of Toronto, was fined $8 and costs. Constable Kenneth Mount said that she was driving at 45 m.p.h. on Eagle St.

Harry Kitchen, Schomberg, charged on three counts, driving while intoxicated, careless driving, and illegal possession of liquor, ment, torture, yes, any kind of persecution, even to the death, rather than give assent to wrongdoing.

"If the issues in this war are, for example, purely national, the church would be in duty bound to speak against it. National prejudice, or patriotic fervor do not justify such an atrocity as war. Patriotism is expected of every citizen, but the attitude of 'My country, may she always be right, but right or wrong, my country,' is an attitude that leads to strife.

"Adolph Hitler places the responsibility for his international foul play on patriotism. He speaks of Deutschland with a sob in his voice; he endeavors to instill into every citizen of the reich the idea that a German is in every way superior to a man of any other nation; that German leadership would be a boon and blessing to the world. This is exaggerated patriotism. If Britshers, because they had been taught the same falsehoods, were to lock themselves in a death struggle with another nation, the church would be morally obligated to raise its voice in protest.

"The point is that we must be was remanded until Oct. 8 for judgment.

Constable Aubrey Fleury testified that on Sept. 18 he received a telephone call and went to Schomberg. He said that as Mr. Kitchen was not home, he and Constable Julius Farquhar waited outside his house. He said that he saw a car coming along the main street in a wavering manner. He stopped in front of it in order to stop it, but the driver, Mr. Kitchen, continued to drive into the lane. He said that he jumped on the running-board and turned off the ignition.

"Mr. Kitchen got out of the car," the officer stated. "I went with him up the lane. His speech was thick and he staggered. I found a bottle of whiskey in the front seat of the car."

He said that he took the accused man to Dr. Williams in Aurora. In answer to the crown attorney's question, he stated that in his opinion Mr. Kitchen's condition at the doctor's home was not as bad as when he took him from the car in Schomberg.

"How is the street lighting?" asked H. B. Hawkins, counsel for the defence. "It is good," was the reply.

"Kitchen was going slowly when he turned into the lane?" "Yes," "He made the turn?" "Yes."

"You didn't and you were not drunk," smiled Mr. Hawkins.

Con. Fleury agreed with the defence that about an ounce and a half of whiskey had been consumed out of the bottle.

Constable Farquhar testified that he had observed the wavering car some distance away. He said that the accused man was under the influence of liquor.

Dr. Williams testified that he found the defendant's powers of reflex and co-ordination "not bad." He said there was no particular slurring of speech or staggering.

"He had the odor of alcohol on his breath," he said.

"In your opinion, what was his condition to drive?" asked the crown attorney.

"In my opinion he was under the influence of alcohol," answered the doctor. "It is my opinion that alcohol and gasoline do not mix. It is my opinion that a person under the influence of liquor should not drive."

Mr. Kitchen in his defence stated that he was sober at the time he was taken from the car, and that he had had but two pints of beer in the morning, after which he had his dinner. He said that he had drunk the whiskey about ten or 15 minutes before the police officer had stopped him. He further stated that he had not seen the officer on the road until he had stepped on the running-board of his car. A loose steering gear accounted for his car going in a wavering manner.

perfectly clear regarding the issues of this specific struggle, and then subject them to the searching light of the words of Christ.

"Let us put it this way: If we remain passive in this struggle, and Nazism is permitted to overrun our empire, to what changed conditions would we be subjected?"

"(1) We would be subject to a government which had no regard for truth, but which would break a promise as readily as we would break a pie-crust. Now this is not speculation, nor is it propaganda. We know, and the whole world knows, that the Nazi rule has broken its promises on every occasion when to break it suited their purpose better than to keep it.

"What would Jesus think of that? He said, 'Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.' We must see the obvious implication then, that untruth will lead us into bondage.

"Jesus also said, 'I am the truth.' Then we gather that truthful men and nations have some claim to His name and fellowship, while untruthful men and nations have no part with Him, but are opposed to Him and all He stands for.

"In this connection we could multiply evidence, Jesus was referred to as 'The only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth.' And when we have given a glimpse of heaven, the Holy Spirit of God precisely informs us that 'Nothing that maketh a lie shall enter therein.'

"(2) We would have to swear allegiance to a government which persecute the Jewish God, very clearly stated that the Jewish nation would lose its national home, and be fugitive among the Gentiles, receiving persecution at their hands. But He certainly gave no license to any Gentile nation to persecute the Jew. He did say, however, 'They shall prosper that love thee,' and many a leader in Britain is ready to testify that much of Britain's prosperity is attributable to the fact that she has always meted out fair treatment to the Jew.

"(3) We would be forced to live in a regime which makes the worship of God subject to the dictates of the state. Jesus told us that 'the first and great commandment is, 'Thou shalt love the Lord Thy God with all thy heart, soul, mind and strength.' But Nazism claims that allegiance for the state, not for God.

"(4) We would be subject to a government which forces school teachers to instruct children in the worship of the idols of war, tyranny and oppression. This is not only a tragedy in that it produces a generation of war lovers and peace haters; it is also idolatry. It is disobedience to the commandment which Jesus quoted to Satan during His wilderness temptation, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve.' Nazism has created a new god—an idol, not of 'wood and stone,' but comprised of fuhrer, state and instruments of warfare. To this idol-worship our children would be led, and many of us would be given the choice of instructing them, with 'Mein Kampf' as the textbook, or being delivered to a slow death in a concentration camp.

"(5) Our army, navy and air-force would be given instructions of terrorizing our enemies by means of torpedoing refugee ships laden with children; by willfully destroying civilian homes where little tots were peacefully and innocently sleeping, and by spraying with machine-gun bullets any groups of children which might be seen wending their way from destroyed homes to a place of safety. What would Jesus think of that? We read that He took a little child up in His arms—that He set a little child in the midst, and said, 'If any man offend one of these little ones, it were better for that man that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the midst of the sea. . . . It must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh.'

"We have discovered what the attitude of our Master would be to such a regime as the Nazi. By His very words, it becomes obvious that our Lord Jesus abhors these things far more than we can possibly do, and therefore it could not possibly be His will that such a menace as Nazism should spread throughout the world which His hands have made, and befall the nations which are striving, in some measure at least, after righteousness.

"Leslie D. Weatherhead recently stated that 'Whatever we may feel about our own individual attitude toward the war, surely we are trustees for the generations to come, and must do our utmost not to let go the liberty which is their birthright.' "Having then discovered what would be our Saviour's attitude to this Nazi invasion of nations and their rights, the attitude of His church becomes established, for it is enough for 'The servant to be as his Lord.' Christ's attitude must be our attitude. Because He hates the very things for which Nazism stands, the church which bears His Name must rise up in condemnation of those things also.

"We may then discuss the church's actions. Since the church of Jesus Christ is composed of Christian people, this old, old, question evolves: 'Should a Christian go to war?' "Since the cessation of the last Great War, pastors have been roundly scolded because they stood in their pulpits and incited men to enter the battle.' Pastors are accustomed to being maligned, but those who are devoted to duty will declare what they believe to be right, regardless of criticism.

"Now, if the church's attitude should be one of opposition to Nazism, the Christian who would refuse to take part in the struggle would, by his actions, give the lie to his stated beliefs. It would be most incongruous to adopt the attitude of opposition to the entrance of Nazism, and at the same time allow the other fellow to do

Maple Hill

On Sunday evening the pastor of Maple Hill Baptist church delivered a powerful message. The association meeting of the the fighting necessary to the stopping of the menace.

"We do not say that every man should rise early on the morrow and present himself at a recruiting office as ready for active service. The government knows which men it wants, and which men it can best afford to use. Many have experience to offer, and in proffering your services, you most assuredly perform your duty. Others have youth, health and cool nerves to offer, and when you present yourself for the disposal of your government, you prove that not only is your attitude as a Christian one of opposition to Hitlerism, but that you are willing to prove your attitude by your actions. As the struggle progresses and you should be called upon to serve, you could scarcely hold back as a 'conscientious objector,' when you have declared that everything in Nazism is in direct opposition to the attitude and teachings of Christ.

"But to fight if called upon is not the only duty of the church. One of the foremost things for which we are struggling is the right to worship God in peace and liberty of conscience. What a travesty of common sense it would be, if, during this struggle, we were to forfeit this privilege for which we are fighting.

"Moreover, there will be a distinct relationship between the morale of our fighting forces and the depth of our spirituality at home. Well do we know that our hope of victory is in God Most High. The mighty arm of omnipotent God will be moved on behalf of our nation if the church at home will continue 'instant in prayer.'

"I see it as our duty to 'pray without ceasing' for our fighting men. They are fighting a double battle, against Nazism, and against personal and moral temptation. If they fall in the fight against moral evil, they will be sadly impaired for the fight against that national evil, Nazism.

"Would to God that before this carnage becomes any more terrible and sickening, the church of Christ would awake to the fact that it ought to pray. God wants to help us, and we can help Him to help us. We must be aroused to the understanding that 'Prayer is not an overcoming of God's reluctance, but a laying hold of His highest willingness' (Trench). It would be just as foolish to put all the emphasis upon fighting and neglect prayer as it would be to put all the emphasis on prayer, and neglect to fight. In fact, the latter would be the more sensible, for if we had put the emphasis on prayer from the beginning, we might have been saved the fighting. But now it appears to be time to take Cromwell's advice—'Trust in God, and keep your powder dry.'

"If it is your part to fight, do it with all your might and intelligence. And when, at the end of a weary day of fighting, you pause to offer your prayer to God, may it be in the full consciousness that the whole church of Jesus Christ is praying with you and for you. "There is one more exhortation, without which I could never conclude a message of this type. It is not enough to pray for victory, we must always seek above everything else the glory of God. We want peace and we are justified in praying for it; but it is even more important to pray that a new era of righteousness will follow this struggle. God did deliver us in 1918, but very few gave Him the credit, and His net of deliverance was soon forgotten.

"Let us learn our lesson well: the godly sovereign whom the King of Kings has placed at our head shows us a glowing example of trust. With Him, let us put our faith in God, and when deliverance comes let us not be like the nine lepers who forgot to return and give thanks for their cleansing, but like the one who came and worshipped. An era of godliness followed the war of 1914-1918. Therefore, our most earnest prayer should be that as a result of this struggle, both we and our enemies shall be led to acknowledge God, and to give abundant entrance to the saving gospel of our crucified and risen Lord."

In Memoriam

Brown—In memory of Joseph Watson Brown, who passed away three years ago, on Oct. 5, 1937.

His life was earnest, his actions kind,
A generous hand, and an active mind.
A loving husband and a faithful friend.

Fondly remembered by his wife, Myrtle.

Birth—In loving memory of a wife and mother, Pearl Agnes Firth, who passed away Oct. 5, 1939.

A wonderful mother, woman and all;
One who was better God never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true;
One in a million, that, mother, was you.

Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew;
A wonderful mother, that, mother, was you.

Sadly missed by husband and family.

Haskell—In loving memory of George Haskell, who passed away Oct. 1, 1939.

The one we loved has gone to rest,
His fond true heart is still.
The hand that always helped us
Now lies in death's cold chill.

Sadly missed by his wife and family.

McIntyre—In fond memory of my dear aunt, Hannah McIntyre, who fell asleep in Jesus, Sept. 29, 1939.

'Tis sweet to know we'll meet again
Where troubles are no more,
And that the one we loved so well
Has just gone on before.

Ever remembered by her niece, May.

Terry—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Harvey Terry, who passed away Oct. 1, 1938.

IN SAME CHURCH

Bronze and blue autumn flowers formed a lovely setting in St. Paul's Anglican church last Saturday afternoon, for the marriage of Thelma Louise Price, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Price, to Albert William (Bert) Coles, only son of Mr. William Coles and the late Mrs. Coles of Toronto.

Rev. A. J. Patstone, the rector, officiated. The bride's parents were married at St. Paul's 25 years ago.

Mrs. J. O. Little played the wedding music and Mr. Lorne Price, cousin of the bride, sang "Still as the night" before the bridal party entered the church and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of heavenly blue mousseline de soie over taffeta, lace jacket buttoned from the neck to waist, and a full skirt. Her lace hood was held in place by roses and swansonia. She carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and swansonia.

The bride was attended by her only sister, Miss Eileen Price, who was gowned in dusky rose georgette over taffeta, shirred jacket and wore a large black velvet off-the-face hat. She carried a colonial bouquet. Mr. John French attended the groom. Mr. Harry Price, brother of the bride, and Mr. Herbert Dunham acted as ushers.

At the reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received, wearing a blue printed crepe frock, black accessories and a corsage of red roses, while Mrs. Coles wore a soldier blue wool dress and a corsage of cream roses.

The happy couple left for a wedding trip to northern Ontario, the bride travelling in a grey dressmaker suit, burgundy accessories and blue coat.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Coles will live in Toronto.

FORMER SCHOOL INSPECTOR DIES

The death occurred last evening of one of Aurora's oldest and most respected citizens, in the person of C. W. Mulloy, Wellington St. He was 88 years of age, but on Saturday he would have celebrated his 87th birthday.

He was born on a farm near Elmira, Ont., and after attending high school there graduated with honors from the University of Toronto, following which he entered the teaching profession. He was high school principal at Lucan and Grimsby, before coming to Aurora as principal in 1896. He was in charge of the local school until 1908, at which time he was appointed public school inspector for York county, a position he held until his retirement in 1920.

He was beloved by thousands of pupils and many teachers of the district, and was in the forefront with improvements in methods of teaching.

Since his retirement he has lived quietly at his home, but has been in ill-health the past three or four years. His wife, the former Gertrude Claffin of Preston, died in 1937.

He was a member of Rising Sun Masonic lodge, and Aurora United church, where he had served in practically every capacity. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. J. McMillan, and Mrs. Jas. Strong, both of Vancouver, and two sons, Alan of Ottawa and Charles Claffin of Aurora. There are 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild in the family.

The funeral service will be on Saturday, with interment in Aurora cemetery.

MEDICOS HOLD DAY'S MEETING IN AURORA

Aurora was the mecca today of over 100 doctors and their wives of the district branch of the Ontario Medical Association (York, Simcoe, Peel and Ontario counties), who held their annual convention here. The convention was held this year in honor of the district councillor, Dr. C. J. Devins. The high school was the site of the convention.

This morning a business session was held, with Dr. Devins presiding. In the afternoon from two to four o'clock a scientific lecture was given.

While the men attended the business and lecture session, the ladies were entertained by Mrs. C. J. Devins, Wellington St., at a bridge and tea. Others played at the Aurora golf and country club.

Late this afternoon the party journeyed to the estate of Lady Eaton at Everley, where they enjoyed the beautiful surroundings and made an inspection of the premises, being greeted by their hosts.

This evening at 6.30 a banquet is being held in the high school auditorium, for which the W. A. of the Aurora United church are caterers.

Local Red Cross Is Still $900 Short Of Objective

At the last released report the Aurora Red Cross had collected a total of $1,000 of their $2,800 objective. Figures, however, of the amounts collected since Tuesday were not to be computed until Friday.

Last reports showed a considerable number of streets to be canvassed. When the final returns are in it is believed the objective will be not far away. Canvassers were optimistic that the total amount would be reached. The campaign closes on Saturday, Oct. 6.

DOWN THE CENTRE

FALL FLASHES

King City play Arnott (Holland Centre) in King on Saturday afternoon in the last of their home and home series, and the game should be a clinker. Last Saturday the King boys played in the Grey county hamlet and took a 12-3 decision, when the score reverted back to the seventh inning score, with play being called in the ninth with the teams tied at 12-all and Arnott coming up to bat.

The northerners are wild about it all, as the umpire was from King and they threaten to carry the matter to the higher ups. King, however, say they'll put quietus on the matter by a second win. Walker is again likely to start on the mound as Blondie Rawlings was treated rather roughly in the seventh and eighth frames after he took over. (The series was thought to be for the championship, but now the winners meet Troy in the finals.)

The King line-up included an infield of Rawlings, Dow, Davis and Archibald in that order from left to right, with the Walker brothers on the points. De La Salle are holding their field day on Saturday afternoon, too, so there's another spot for you if you're on the loose.

Schomberg, last year's rural champs, have finally been eliminated from softball by Strabane. Several boys went to camp with the Irish, delaying the play-offs when the team was hot and they never could come back.

Newmarket camp receives today Lieut. E. D. Graham, late of the Grey-Simcoe Foresters, but known to hockey fans as simply Teddy Graham. The returned Graham, a little short as defencemen go, nevertheless went for years in the big time at a terrific clip, with, if we recall rightly, no less than four different teams. Last year he was on the N.H.L. refereeing staff.

Harold Brown, former Toronto sports impresario, is a sergeant in the camp. He is the gent who put such boys as Frenchy Belanger, Steve Rocco, Soldier Jones and other leather-pushers on the map. Of late years he has been rather put down by Jack Corcoran. Wouldn't surprise me a bit if in his off moments Brown got together with Joe Spill to really give North York some feature sports attractions. Lieut. W. B. Armstrong, a former O. C. athletic great, and Sergeant Major Farrell, a top tanker with the fencing fella and in the gym, are others who will keep the boys on their toes.

Hugh Muir is reported to be definitely with the Marlboro-Good-year senior entry, but he might just wind up with St. Catharines. At least he's got a bid for the garden city team, and the Leafs will train there again and Hugh will likely work out with them.

TOWN WILL HAVE NEW MEDICAL MAN

Newest addition to Aurora's professional men is Dr. A. G. McKinnon, who will be an assistant to Dr. C. R. Houlding.

Dr. McKinnon is a graduate of the University of Toronto. Dr. McKinnon took post-graduate work in British Columbia. Later he had charge of a hospital in northern Ontario, and he comes to Aurora from Innisfail, Ont., where he has been in practice. He will be on full-time duty at the Aurora clinic.

FORMER AURORAN LOSES WIFE

Townpeople will learn with regret that the wife of Arthur McCuskey of Providence, R. I., former Aurora boy, died last week.

ARE WITH IRISH

Scotty definitely should be as sensational in senior as he was in junior, for he has a level head on his shoulders, besides plenty of natural ability, which is par excellence in sport. Jimmy Cummings is out again with Oakwood Indians in intermediate rugby in a group that includes the Argyll Highlanders, which, as you know, has three Aurora boys in its ranks. Cummings is temporarily incapacitated, with a sore shoulder. Slaps and Scraps takes the matrimonial plunge this month and to our old friend we extend every good wish for the future, as we are sure to all our readers. Incidentally, Slaps is stealing an Aurora girl away from us. We always knew he had a warm spot in his heart for Aurora, despite what he might get off his chest at times.

Queen's Yorks are organizing a soccer team under R.S.M. Jowett, an old English color star, and one of the best-known soccer referees in Canada. There are one or two boys in C company who could fit in nicely with the team. The regimental O.C., Col. J. H. Bennett, is firmly behind the team, which we hope is just a start in the Yorks' entry into sports. Incidentally, the 2nd Irish regiment has the entire Ulster football team in their ranks and after the Queen's Yorks get some practice a game might just be arranged. A real sports fixture for this neck of the woods would be a clash between the local Irish recruits and our own C company. It's a thought at least.

Bill Books, one of our favorite sports figures, annexed for the sixth consecutive year the club championship and the Aemilius Jarvis shield at the Aurora golf and country club. Bill, who learned his golf in the old country at the famous Sandridge course, defeated Eli Cross, former provincial junior champion, in a 36-hole test, seven up and five to play. Frank Underhill and Ted Terry, the handicap champ, were semi-finalists.

The Walker Cup went to a team composed of Norm Johnson, Hugh McCae, Norm Campbell, and N. G. "Punch" dePencler. A slug night for the men's section, which has had a mighty good year under President Johnson and Secretary Harry Aldrich, is planned for late this month. The century is being played out yet, with George Baldwin, Walter Milgate, "Sandy" McNalin, and Hugh McInnes all in the running. Ted Chatterley, earlier in the year, won the Mulock trophy, emblematic of the North York handicap championship.

Amy attitude towards sport was aptly put at the sports service league banquet last week by Major-General R. O. Alexander, M.D., 2, commandant, when he said, "We are not looking for champions, we just want everybody to play something." Not a bad idea for peacetime organizations either, we think.

SAY FEW AURORANS TO BE AT CAMP

Elizabeth Wilcox was next in line with 14 points, annexing two firsts in the three events in which she competed.

TEST PLOT YIELDS 351 BUSHELS TO ACRE

While the fine weather on Tuesday was being taken advantage of for threshing, silo filling and potato digging, about 50 potato growers attended the observation tour of the potato demonstration plots located in the Ballantrae, Mount Albert, Holt, Sharon and Queensville districts to see how the various plots responded to the digging test.

These plots of one acre were planted and supervised by J. A. Brown, of the department of agriculture, throughout the season, alongside a half-acre grown by the farmer following the usual practices. Both plots were on manured land and planted to certified seed. The demonstration plots, however, received 750 lbs. of 4-8-10 commercial fertilizer and were sprayed five times with Bordeaux mixture to control leaf hoppers and late blight—a poison being added to the mixture for potato bugs when necessary.

Meeting at L. L. Peterson's at Ballantrae, the group was surprised to find the sprayed plot still fairly green, as was the case at the other plots visited. The check plot in all cases had been dead for some time from the effects of blight.

W. M. Cuckburn, agricultural representative, in charge of the tour, had arranged with the owner in each case to dig two rows in each plot, one row to be bagged and weighed, the other row in each plot to be left on the ground. In some cases there were a great many more small unmarketable potatoes in the check plot.

The greatest increase was on the farm of Robt. Knights, of Queensville, where the yield from the demonstration plot was three times that of the check plot. He had also saved his main crop by spraying. At Everton Gonde's, Sharon, and L. L. Peterson's, Ballantrae, the yield was doubled, and at Carl Moorehead's, Mount Albert, and Alan Hopkins', Holt, there was only a slight increase on the rows dug.

Owing to silo fillers being at L. Herdman's of Queensville, he was unable to have his dug but there is a very marked difference in the vines.

The total yield of the rows dug on the farms visited, with rows ranging from 32 to 40 rods, was 28 bags and 6 lbs. on the check, compared with 46 bags and 41 lbs. on the demonstration acre. The highest yield, computed on an acre basis, was on Mr. Peterson's, with 351 bus. per acre against 153 bus.

In the official tabulation of the work, diggings will be made at four different parts of each plot.

The group also visited the farm of Douglas Campbell, Mount Albert, where over 100 small test-plots are located, testing various varieties, cultural methods and rates of fertilizers.

W. H. Pugsley, of Sutton, chairman of the agricultural committee of county council and Secretary James Rennie, of Markham, like the others present, were most enthusiastic about the display and are hoping their committee might be able to arrange to have a similar project continued in 1941 if the growers so wish.

Attending the tour was Dr. G.

P. McFostle, head of the field husbandry department of the O.A.C., Guelph, under whose department the work is carried on in co-operation with the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Norman Parks, supervisor of the work in the Alliston district, stated that very similar results were in evidence there.

Heave io, Maley

A couple of sailors, on leave, had hired one of those Drive-Yourself autos to see a strange city. At one corner they were stopped by a cop for going against traffic on a one-way street.

"Not that way, either," the cop barked as they started to round a corner. "No left turns here!"

"What'll we do?" one of the bewildered gobs asked the other. "Gotta save our honor," responded the other. "Scuttle her!"

KESWICK
SUNDAY SCHOLARS
LEAD CHURCH SERVICE

The Keswick branch of the Canadian Red Cross is holding its drive for funds this week.
Everyone is asked to please contribute generously.

The Keswick Red Cross Society will hold a business meeting on Monday evening, Oct. 7, in the schoolhouse. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m., standard time.
All are urged to attend this meeting.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 9, the field committee of the Keswick Red Cross Society will hold a social evening at the Royal Simcoe hotel. Cards and games of all kinds will be played.
The evening's entertainment will begin at 7:30 o'clock standard time. The admission will be a gift suitable to put in a soldier's box to be sent overseas.

Next Sunday, Miss Miriam
Collins, student pastor of Bethel and Egypt charges of the United church, will occupy the pulpit of Keswick United church at the morning service. Rev. Gordon Lapp will have charge of the evening service. All services of the United church will be on standard time.

Last Sunday the morning service of the United church was in the charge of the Sunday-school.
The pupils of the Sunday-school marched into the church from the Sunday-school room singing the processional, in which the congregation joined. The members of the Sunday-school and their teachers occupied the choir seats and sang a selection in a very delightful manner. Miss Eva Gilroy and Miss Muriel Willoughby trained the Sunday-school choir. Perry Winch, Jr., read the scripture lesson. Miss Marian Rye led the responsive reading. Donald and Gordon Winch took up the collection.

The theme of the service was the miracle of the feeding of the five thousand by the five loaves and two fishes, the gift of a small boy. Miss Betty Mahoney told in a very arresting way of this miracle and other miracles of Jesus. Mr. Lapp told the life stories of Dr. Robert McClure, famous Canadian missionary to China, and another young man of his acquaintance.

The Women's Missionary Society of the United church will hold their October meeting on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 10. The time of starting will be 2 o'clock, standard time. Another chapter of the study book on India will be reviewed.

SPORT PRAISED, ROUGH
STUFF IS NAZI STYLE

Revival of baseball as a town sport was toasted at a dinner in the King George hotel on Thursday evening. President R. C.
Morrison presided. Wm. Haskett, hard-working secretary, was paid special tribute in the course of the evening.

Alex. Belugin, chief push in the 1940 baseball revival, acted as song-leader, and Wm. White was pianist and soloist.

Presiding in genial fashion,
President Morrison called on Bos. McHale, Bill Epworth, Bern.
McHale, Frank Prest, Harry Thoma and Harry Dougan each to take a bow as former baseball stars and present baseball promoters.

"I want to pay tribute to Alex. Belugin, who took time out to see that we had baseball this year," said Mr. Morrison. "We need hardball just now. Let us do our part by keeping the sports spirit alive. Let us keep our games to keep the young man's mind alert and his body fit, for the task that might come to us."

"Without the old diehards we never would have had hardball," said Mr. Belugin. "They put you boys over. And you went over big. We'll have to get the army into the league next year and perhaps they will help us fix up the diamond."

Mr. Belugin spoke of help received from Andrew Davis, E.
J. Davis, G. L. Manning and "other people who helped in a quiet way."

Mr. Belugin paid tribute to two head-table guests, Mayor
Dr. S. J. Boyd, and Councillor
A. V. Haggins, chairman of the town property committee, for their help with the grounds.

Mr. Belugin paid tribute too to "Tom Watson, who made an investment in 1911, which is still paying dividends in 1940." He presented the Tom Watson trophy to Ben Wilson, coach of the winning Specialty team, who replied briefly, "Thanks very much."

"There was some criticism, implied if not spoken, of us holding this banquet tonight," said Mr. Morrison. "We talked it over and decided to have it,
as an investment in hardball."

"Softball had dwindled down to about a dozen chaps, and there were about 100 fellows needing a chance to play," said Mayor Boyd, telling why he had favored municipal help for the hardballers. "I went over to see the games whenever I could

I would just as soon see you fellows play as see the Maple Leaves."

Mr. Morrison added his thanks to Mr. Haggins, who had "worked hard for us all."
"Sport is a great thing," said Mr. Haggins. "If I could have done ten times as much, I would have been glad to do it."

Telling first of his early acquaintance with baseball, on coming to Canada from (Ireland originally) England, Rev. Arthur Greer, pastor of the Christian church, went on to give his views of sport and to urge the boys to develop and live balanced lives.

Accustomed to cricket, he thought baseball was a silly game when he saw it first, but he got into the game, got cheered when he caught a fly ball, and was soon converted, he related.

"Should parsons indulge in sport?" he said. "I said in church one night that I'd like to play golf. A member left the church that night and hasn't been back since. I think that we are better without that person. That person doesn't believe in a balanced life."

"The body will get rusty if you don't use it. So I commend baseball, but there's a way to play it. I don't like a lounge-r, the chap who slouches around and waits for breaks. Character is made on the baseball field.
What you are on the baseball field is a prophecy of what you will be like in life."

"If you wait for the breaks in life, you'll only have heartbreaks. When you play, play hard. Eton's playing-fields make a great contribution to the winning of battles, but so do the sand-lots and the farmers' fields where boys are allowed to play."

"Then there is too much rough stuff. It seems the ambition of too many boys to be a Red Hornet. Give me a Syl Apps every time. A man in a game who will deliberately injure another fellow in life will steal or cheat."

"Let's do away with all this rough sport. The easy way to win is to use your spikes. That's the way Hitler is trying to win, maiming women and children.
England is fighting a different war, and the encouraging thing is that it is that way that usually wins."

"Play, play hard and play the game. If a person should balance his life, you should balance your lives. You like to see a person attend your games.
A person likes to see you attend church. There is another side to your life."

Concluding the meeting, Alex.
Belugin expressed appreciation of the efforts of the president,
R. C. Morrison.

Over 5,000 people read The Era every week.

CHURCH WORK MUST GO ON, WOMEN TOLD

The annual rally of the northern section of Toronto centre presbyterian Women's Missionary Society of the United church was held at Sutton West on Wednesday Sept. 25.

In the absence of Mrs. W. J.
Thompson, vice-president of this section, Miss Annie Bishop, president of Toronto centre presbyterian, presided.

Mrs. G. W. Wood, Toronto, presented "The Challenge and Opportunity of Special Objects" in the W.M.S. work.

Miss Miriam Collins of Sutton contributed a beautiful solo "At the Name of Jesus every knee shall bow."

Miss Winnifred Thomas, general secretary of the Dominion Board of the W.M.S., was introduced by Miss Bishop as the speaker of the afternoon.
Miss Thomas spoke on "The need of missionary work in time of war," stressing the demands of
"our country and of our church."

"A time of crisis calls out for greater loyalty and service," she said. "The best service we can give to our country is to carry on the work of the church.
The deepest needs are those which only Christ and His church can meet. There is no other medium in Canada to bring various groups together into a real national union."

"We are fighting that we may live as a free nation within the British empire," she said. "It is essential that the church of Christ be strong and vigorous.
We are committed to carry on in Christ's world church and in this way may contribute most to our country."

Rev. N. S. Anderson brought the meeting to a close, after which a happy social hour was spent with the Sutton West auxiliary as hostesses.

There was a good attendance of W.M.S. auxiliaries from Aurora to Sutton.

EXTENSIVE WAR WORK DONE BY INSTITUTE

All who are interested in home and country should know some interesting facts about the Ontario Women's Institute.

It is a true Canadian child, born at Stony Creek near Hamilton, Feb. 20, 1897. There a group of women met and organized an Institute to meet their felt need. The first president and secretary were Mrs. E. Smith and Miss Nash, both of Stony Creek.

In September, 1905, eight years later, this movement had spread so that Newmarket learned of it and realized that something worthwhile was being offered to Canadian women.

Under Mrs. C. F. Doane, Yonge St., the Newmarket branch of the Women's Institute was organized. Mrs. Doane became first president and is now a life member.

Mrs. Doane and Mrs. E. N. Penrose share the honor of being Newmarket's two senior members. The organization has grown tremendously since that time and is now universal. The Women's Institute is the second largest organization in the world.

It is a non-political and non-sectarian movement and is therefore able to function harmoniously. The motto has always been "For Home and Country." Through this organization much has been done to raise the standards of living in our country.

The headquarters of the Ontario Women's Institute are at the parliament buildings, Toronto, and jackets for the men in the navy. If anyone has old leather purses, gloves, school bags, or leather pillows, would they kindly get in touch with any Cub and he will call and pick them up.

Each year a project is sponsored by the government and is made available to each Institute branch in the district. One delegate from each branch attends the course and upon completion of this course, the delegate returns to her branch and imparts the knowledge she has gathered to her fellow-members. In Ontario alone there are over 73,000 members living their motto "For Home and Country."

The Newmarket branch holds a charter authorizing it to raise funds under the War Charities Act. By dint of hard work this branch has raised $271.40. In order to raise this money the members ran a fall fair and fashion show last fall, catered for several banquets, held teas and demonstrations and received a few donations, one of them being 12 pairs of socks, six pairs of mittens and six helmets from the local Red Cross Society.

The following is a report on the year's work: 125 pairs of socks, 24 sweaters, 17 pairs of wristlets, 13 helmets and 11 pairs of mittens. These have all been distributed to the local ladies overseas. Six sailors' scarves were donated to the Salvation Army to assist with their navy work.

One bale was sent to Red Cross headquarters, consisting of: 36 pairs of pillow cases, 12 abdominal bandages, 16 triangle bandages, 19 ice-bag covers and 19 hospital gowns. Twenty-five dollars was donated to the local Red Cross branch.

One of the responsibilities the Institute has assumed for the duration of the war is the work in conjunction with the veterans to see that one box a month is packed and shipped to each local boy serving overseas. This work is similar to the field comforts of the last war.

The veterans supply all the contents for the boxes except the knitted goods. The Institute women have undertaken to see that all the boxes are packed, taped, sewn up in factory cotton, labeled, addressed and waxed for shipment, so that water will not obliterate the name.

For variety's sake and with the hope of a pleasant surprise for the boys, each month the box is made up slightly differently.

This is a sample of the contents of an overseas box as shipped jointly by veterans and Institute women: one lb. canned butter, one can of peaches, one can of chocolate syrup or chocolate bars, one can of tomato juice, cheese wafers, meat sandwich spread, soap, pipe, razor blades, shoe-laces, stationery, handkerchiefs and knitted goods, such as socks, helmets, sweaters, mittens and wristlets.

Now that cold weather will soon be at hand, more sweaters, mitts and helmets will go forward.

In May 17 boxes were shipped, in June 15, as two boys were invalided home. In August 21 boxes were sent and in September 29.

Each successive month there will be more boxes to be shipped. In preparation for this the women of the Institute are holding a large fall fair in the market house on Thursday, Oct. 17, at 2 p.m. Everyone is asked to keep this date in mind and is cordially invited to attend at 2 p.m., when the doors will be open for business.

There will be many useful and necessary articles for sale. A general market booth will be run by the rural members. Here a great selection of farm products will be offered for sale. Shop early, as the supply will be limited. Raffle will be played in the evening at 8 p.m.

There will be a gift shop and a very fine display of handcraft. Some of these pieces will be for sale, some will be for display only. Make a point to see the handcraft. It promises to be worth-while.

At 3 p.m. Mrs. H. M. Aitken of the "Cooking School of the Air" will be present. She will speak to the afternoon tea guests on a subject of great interest to all women.

Mrs. Marie Draper Lyons and her niece club will entertain with special musical selections at the tea hour, upon the conclusion of Mrs. Aitken's address.

The Era is the best means of getting in touch with the most progressive people of this district.
